CONGRESSIONAL TRACKER 2026

HOW WELL DO OUR SENATORS AND HOUSE MEMBERS REPRESENT THE MUSLIM AMERICAN COMMUNITY?

Members of Congress are responsible for making federal laws, shaping national policy, and allocating funding that impacts everything from education and healthcare to civil rights and community programs.

House members serve two-year terms, meaning all congressional seats are up for election every even year, while U.S. Senators serve six-year terms. This year, Senator Cory Booker is up for reelection and faces no Democratic primary challenge. Senator Andy Kim, who began his Senate term in 2025, is not up for reelection until 2031.

Now, through June 2, 2026, voters will cast their ballots for New Jersey's primary elections to determine who will be our Democratic and Republican nominees for various elected offices. Some incumbents face challengers. Review the table to below to see the extent to which your Representatives supported measures important to the Muslim American community.

The bills selected reflect concerns such as civil rights protections, foreign policy accountability, and Islamophobia. Some bills have been voted on, others have only been introduced. The green check marks reflect votes or cosponsorships in support of Muslim New Jerseyans'. Some spots have a gray circle, if the bill is not applicable or a vote was missed.
